Thanks. A: You can use any combination of Javascript and HTML/CSS with node and express. The best way is to make some sort of application to exercise each technology as you develop it. Check my blog post, Developing Ember with Node.js, and the GitHub source. Note: You'll be dependent on the ember ecosystem and that might pose a problem if you don't control all the application's dependencies. I don't know about you, but when I drink, I like it. I like it so much that I drink it all the time. A new study has found that "excessive drinking" is linked with a lower risk of disease and early death. In fact, people who drank a lot of alcohol had up to 14 per cent less risk of death in the first four years of the study than non-drinkers or those who drank moderately. The study, published
